WASHINGTON, D.C. – Anastasia Johnson/A.J. Collabs multidisciplinary hair show will highlight the art forms of cosmetology, fashion, music, and dance. The audience will go on a journey about black hair and its symbolism of black resilience, fashion, creativity, expression, freedom, and pride. This show features local DMV hair stylists, fashion designers, models, and dancers.

From innovative hair designs to cutting-edge fashion statements, the multidisciplinary nature of the show promises an immersive experience that transcends traditional boundaries. With a fusion of music and dance seamlessly woven into the narrative, Anastasia Johnson/A.J. Collabs is set to create a memorable and vibrant celebration of diversity and creativity within the realms of beauty and self-expression.

About the Director/Founder

Anastasia Johnson is a dance artist, teacher, and choreographer born and raised in Richmond, Virginia. After receiving her B.A in Dance along with a PreK-12 Virginia Teaching Licensure in Dance Arts from James Madison University in 2017, Johnson relocated to Maryland to further her artistry in the DMV area in 2018. Currently, she holds the title as the Education Programs Manager at Dance Place located in Washington, DC. Since relocating, Johnson has performed with companies and artists such as Coyaba Dance Theater, VTDance, Ben Levine, Rachel Luebbert, Choreographers Collaboration Project, and Juanita Maria Dance Company.

About Dance Place

Rooted in the United States capital, Washington D.C., Dance Place supports movement artists by creating opportunities for creative development, performance, and education. By investing deeply in artists and centering those who have been systemically excluded from such opportunities, we strengthen the dance field.
